

EXECUTIVE LECTURESHIP IN BUSINESS ETHICS

ETHICS IN FOCUS: A CONVERSATION WITH JOHN KING

Moderated by Jeffrey Moriarty and
Kerri-Ann Sanderson

Tuesday, October 25, 2022, 2:00–3:00pm
LaCava Building – Room 325 ABC

EY is one of the leading professional services firms in the world. With revenues of more than $40 billion per year, it employs more than 300,000 people, including many Bentley graduates. Mr. King will discuss the $100 million penalty imposed by the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) on EY concerning past incidents of inappropriate and unacceptable answer sharing on continuing professional education and, by some individuals, on the ethics portion of CPA tests. Mr. King will also share how the firm responded to this conduct, and the thorough, extensive, and effective steps the firm has taken to reinforce its commitment to ethics and integrity.

Presented by the Hoffman Center for Business Ethics at Bentley University.

John King

John currently serves as EY Americas Vice Chair – Assurance. In this role, he leads more than 20,000 professionals in Audit, Financial Accounting Advisory Services (FAAS) and Forensic & Integrity Services, driving more than US $5 billion in annual revenue.

John's client service focuses on Fortune 500 companies and spans numerous industries. While his professional background includes serving rapid growth and acquisitive companies, John's principal focus has been serving clients in the global energy and manufacturing sectors. As a leader, John is laser-focused on innovation and quality, as well as maintaining relationships across a wide range of stakeholders. He has also demonstrated exceptional commitment to EY partners and people, championing their development as outstanding business professionals.

John currently serves on the EY Americas Operating Executive and the EY US Executive Committee. In addition, he serves on the organization's Global Assurance Executive Committee and Global Practice Group.
