

Lactation Rooms on Campus

Bentley University supports its employees with young families. Breast-feeding mothers are offered adequate break times and private spaces to express milk for their babies.

Bentley has three lactation rooms available. They are located in Rauch 011, Morison 330C, and the Dana Center Women's locker room. Each room has a sink, table, chairs, and lockable privacy doors. Rauch 011 is equipped with a refrigerator. A passcode is required for the Rauch 011 lactation room. Nursing moms must bring their own pump.

To obtain the passcode, each staff person who will be using the room must contact Human Resources for access. If you do not work in the buildings, you must also request access through University Police for after hour use. Then, users must schedule their time -- four-30 minute time slots are available 24-7 on the hour and half hour.

Contact Human Resources for questions or comments.

Please note: for security reasons, visitors should not be given access to these lactation rooms -- instead, please direct them Human Resources, Rauch 201, 781-891-3247.
