

Tony Messina
Senior Human Resources Executive

Tony Messina is a senior human resources executive with over thirty years of experience partnering with boards of directors and CEOs. Tony provided leadership for fortune 500, mid-size, and start-up companies as well as his own business. His experience spans a broad spectrum of industries including life sciences, bio-technology and instrumentation. He is currently providing consulting services to leadership within these industries.

Tony was responsible for ensuring shareholder value throughout his career leading organizational transformations, mergers and acquisitions, organic growth, executive development and talent management. He has specialized in employee hiring and career development including coaching employees at all levels of the organization to ensure long term career success.

Tony has trained professionals in interviewing, networking and resume writing skills. His expertise enables job candidates to better understand the market, targeted firms and themselves as they seek to secure their next best career opportunity and maximize their leverage in offer negotiations.