Honors Upperclass Experience

This community is designed for upperclass residential Honors students looking to continue a close relationship with the Honors Program at Bentley University. This community will continue to provide space within the hall for programming, study opportunities, and space to connect with other upperclass students living within the community. Residents taking part in this program will also have opportunities to engage in mentorship activities with students living in the first-year Honors community. Connections with faculty from the Honors community will aim to create space for success as students begin to think about or work on their Honors Capstone.

Students living in this community will:

- Have access to campus resources and co-curricular opportunities in connection to understanding wellness.
- Develop individual and community goals related to wellness.
- Articulate the need for and practice of holistic wellness in and outside of the classroom.

Living here allows me to maintain the connections and academic environment of living in the first-year community, and the apartment and lounge accommodations make me feel valued by the university.
